

YOUNG MEN

Are Clothes Enthusiasts

And it's a good thing they are; good for them and for the older men who like to feel young, and find that clothes help to it. We expect a good deal of enthusiasm this Spring among the young men for clothes. There's reason for it in the styles we show of this make; and for the exceptional quality by which the style stays stylish.

We're going to put the right sort of clothes on all the men who come to us—young or old; the kind that make a man look well-dressed.

MILLER SHOE STORE SOLD TO L. W. MOODY

This afternoon the Miller shoe store was sold at auction. The stock invoiced $3,342 and was bid in by L. W. Moody of Shawnee at 52 3/4c on the dollar. Mr. Moody did not say whether he would move the stock to Shawnee at once or would put on a sale.
Mr. Miller came to Ada only a few months ago, and has made many warm friends who regret that he thought it advisable to sell out at this time.

AIKEN SAYS THAT HE WAS NOT NOTIFIED

Oklahoma City, April 23.—The question of what constitutes notice, or sufficient notice under the law on the initiative and referendum, will probably show itself in the hearing on the protest on the Aiken bill, which is to be held in the office of Secretary of State Ben F. Harrison May 14. The protest was filed on the last day of the ten in which such protest could be filed. The notice contained in the protest was direct to Secretary of State Harrison and Oliver H. Aiken, the author of the bill.

It is now contended by Mr. Aiken that he received no copy of the protest, officially, and as he claims, provided by law, until after the ten days whether the filing of the protest in the secretary's office was notice sufficient to the author of the bill, or does the law contemplate that the author of the measure must be in possession of a notice directed to him, within the ten day limit. The only place in the law which might go to that point, says, after the petition has been filed:

"When such original petition is filed in said office (secretary of state) it shall be the duty of the secretary of state to forthwith cause to be published in at least one newspaper of general circulation within the state, a notice setting forth the date of such filing. Any citizen of the state may, within ten days, by written notice to the secretary of state and to the party or parties, who filed such petition, protest against the same," etc.

Aiken contends that he did not receive the notice until after the ten days' limit was up. The law says that no objection to the sufficiency of petitions shall be considered unless they shall have been made and filed in accordance to the provisions.

BOTH TEDDY AND TAFT CLAIM MISSOURI

St. Louis, Mo., April 24.—With both Roosevelt and Taft leaders claiming control there is every indication of an interesting session when the republican state convention is held here tomorrow to name Missouri's four delegates-at-large to the republican national convention. The convention will have 1152 delegates and it will take 577 votes to control. The Taft managers claim 707 votes and concede 444 to Roosevelt. The Roosevelt managers claim 713 and concede 438 to Taft. In both these estimates are included the contested delegates and the uninstructed delegates, of which latter there are a considerable number. A month ago the Taft forces believed they would have an easy victory, but the recent primaries, particularly in St. Louis, which will have 247 delegates in the convention, made it apparent that Roosevelt had at least an equal chance of winning out. Today the Roosevelt people are brimful of confidence. So close appears the contest that many party leaders predict that the convention will send the delegates-at-large to Chicago without instructions for any presidential candidate.

WM. M. FRANKLIN OF MADILL FOR CONGRESS

Senator Wm. M. Franklin of Madill, candidate for congressman-at-large, is well and favorably known at Ada, both by those who have become acquainted with him here in his days of success and when he was a struggling, ambitious boy, years ago in Texas. Mr. Franklin has lived in Oklahoma for fifteen years, during which time he has taken a prominent part in the politics and general welfare of the country, and at statehood was elected state senator. In this capacity he has been one of the most prominent members of the legislature and the author of the child labor and other beneficial laws. Mr. Franklin is also one of the leading members and workers of the W. O. W.

His platform is thoroughly progressive and as he is a most aggressive fighter, he can be relied upon to make himself felt in elected. The interests of his constituents will be in safe hands, too.

of the fight against the Aiken bill has been reached. Therefore, Ada citizens should not begrudge a few dollars for tickets to the normal entertainments, for every cent will go to defraying the expenses incurred in fighting the bill. A prairie fire easily put out when it first starts, but a little later it becomes a very serious and expensive affair. Not a business man in Ada who does not receive enough additional patronage as a result of the normal being located here to begrudge a small sum in the fight.

A live coward may possibly be a trifle better than a dead hero but J. Bruce Ismay, president of the White Star Co., which owned the Titanic, is finding that his pathway is certainly not strewn with roses. Late developments indicate that the disaster was the result of an insane desire on the part of the company to break the world's record in crossing the Atlantic. As president of the company, and owing to the further fact that he was aboard the vessel and virtually its commander, Ismay must shoulder much of the responsibility. He managed to save his precious hide by taking a place in a life boat, to which some innocent passenger was by rights entitled, but indications are that by the time the public gets through with him, his hide will not exactly be a whole one. He may yet wish he had gone down with the gallant Captain Smith and the others. He finds himself in the position of the only man who escaped from the massacre at the pass of Thermopylae. He was held in such contempt that he was glad to go back into the next battle and give up his life while fighting in the front ranks of the Greek army.

Blames the Romans.
A sartorial authority says that the custom of dressing for dinner began with the Romans. It was needless to say, a simpler procedure than at present. A loose robe of a fine material was donned for the evening meal, preferably at home, but in cases where guests came from a distance, at the home of the host, he kept a supply of dinner clothes on hand for the use of his guests who came unprovided.

BATTLE OF FORTY YEARS AGO RECALLED.

The battle of the Carroll county, Virginia, courthouse, while fatal to some few participants, is greatly overshadowed by an occurrence of similar nature attended by much greater facilities, which was fought in eastern Oklahoma nearly forty years ago. In this fight ten were killed and nine wounded.

It was at the courthouse of Gông-snae district in the Cherokee nation now a part of Adair county, Oklahoma, on April 15, 1872, that a Cherokee by the name of Ezekiel Proctor was being tried by a Cherokee woman—one Polly Chesterson.

While the case was pending, a warrant for the arrest of Proctor was obtained, to bring him before the United States district court for the western district of Arkansas at Fort Smith, on the charge of assault to kill, on the person of — Chesterson, husband of Polly Chesterson. Chesterson was a white man, but married a Cherokee woman and, by adoption, was a citizen of the Cherokee nation.

The treaty of 1886 put both cases under the jurisdiction of the Cherokee courts. Yet two United States deputy marshals, with a posse comitatus and accompanied by a number of Cherokees (said to have been enemies of the prisoner Proctor), made an assault on the Cherokee court for the purpose of taking him from the court by force.

The marshal's party, having fired on the prisoner and the court, the guard having custody of the prisoner returned the fire and a most terrible battle ensued. The prisoner, securing a gun from someone near him, fought most desperately.

The result was that Deputy Marshal J. G. Owens, James Ward, Riley Wood, William Hicks, Samuel Beck, George Salvage, Black Sut and William Beck of the marshal's party were killed on the spot or died soon after. Of the same party the following were wounded: White Sut Black, George McLaughlin, Paul Jones.

Of the Cherokees in attendance on the court the following were killed: Johnson Proctor, brother of the prisoner, and Andrew Poine. These were wounded: The presiding judge, B. H. Sixkiller; the prisoner, Ezekiel Proctor, Ellis Foreman, a juror; Joseph Chuwee, deputy sheriff; Isaac Vann and John Proctor.

Proctor recovered from his wounds received in the courthouse fight and was later taken from the custody of the Cherokee officers by a detail of infantry to Tahlequah from Fort Gibson for the purpose. He was later released and lived for many years thereafter at his home near the old courthouse, and died only a few years ago.—Durant Democrat.

WHAT SAVED HER LIFE

Mrs. Martin Tells About a Painful Experience that Might Have Ended Seriously.

Riversville, W. Va.—Mrs. Dora Martin, in a letter from Riversville, writes: "For three years, I suffered with womanly troubles, and had pains in my back and side. I was nervous and could not sleep at night.

The doctor could not help me. He said I would have to be operated on before I could get better. I thought I would try using Cardui.

Now, I am entirely well. I am sure Cardui saved my life. I will never be without Cardui in my home. I recommend it to my friends."

For fifty years, Cardui has been relieving pain and distress caused by womanly trouble. It will surely help you. It goes to the spot—reaches the trouble—relieves the symptoms, and drives away the cause.

If you suffer from any symptoms of womanly trouble, take Cardui. Your druggist sells and recommends it. Get a bottle from him today.

Finley, president of the college of the City of New York; Augustus Thomas, the playwright, and Talcott Williams, the new chief of the Pulitzer School of Journalism. Congressman Victor Murdock, of Kansas, will act as toastmaster.

A Man's Affection for W.
In a recent case in which the question of affection was an important issue, the judge spoke wisely as a philosopher. It was a bit of gold in the dross of the court life of a great wicked city. "A man's affection for a woman," said the modern Solomon, "is shown by his willingness to take trouble in her behalf, to do little services for her, to do with a willing hand that which a man not in love would deem tiresome, troublesome and disquieting."

Music and Masculinity.
Music as an art has little standing in Japan, according to a letter in the current issue of the Traveler's Gazette. It is left almost entirely to women, who cultivate it to the extent of playing on a guitarlike instrument called the samisen. "In the not very remote past," says the writer, "no gentleman could reconcile the practice of music with masculine dignity, and this state of affairs is changing but slowly."

Church Information Wanted.
Why are there so many churches in New York without a sign to know their denomination or who preaches, or any sign of anything except the abode of the sexton and undertaker? Nobody is anxious for the undertaker, and everybody, as a rule, scolds the sexton. Give denomination of the church, time of service and name of pastor.—From a Letter to the Editor of the New York Press.

Age Not the Objection.
It is a mistake to suppose that the world wearies of old men because of their years. A congregation loves a gray-haired preacher as they love a white-haired physician. If he gives them brown or black or red-haired sermons. It's the bald-headed theology the congregations object to.—Burdette.

Wind and Fog in San Francisco.
On some afternoons the velocity of the wind in San Francisco rises with almost clocklike regularity to about 22 miles an hour, and a solid wall of fog, averaging 1,500 feet in height, comes through the Golden Gate, causing a fall in temperature to about that of the sea—namely, 55 degrees Fahrenheit.

Solved.
Little Sam's father was asleep in the library and was giving evidence of it in stentorian fashion. After listening for a moment little Sam said in quivering, "Choo-choo!" Not quite satisfied with his own explanation, he listened again. Then his face brightened. "Cow!" he said triumphantly.

Wonders Within Ourselves.
We carry with us the wonders we seek without us; there is all Africa and her prodigies in us; we are that bold and adventurous piece of nature which he that studies wisely learns in a compendium what others labor at in a divided place and endless volume.—Sir Thomas Browne.

Light Raiment in Nassau.
Mrs. Young, the hostess, who, by the way, was sweetly gownned by her very pleasant manner added very much to the enjoyment of the occasion; and all present retired to pleasant dreams at 1:30 a. m.—Nassau (Bahamas) Tribune.

Happiness Transmitted.
Happiness, at least, is not solitary; it joys to communicate; it loves others, for it depends on them for its existence. . . . the very name and appearance of a happy man breathes of good nature, and help the rest of us to live.—Stevenson.

Lacked Positiveness.
"What sort of a man is he?" asked a Kansas City man concerning a citizen who is regarded as a mollycoddle. "I'll tell you the kind of a fellow he is," replied the other. "If he wants to make a statement real emphatic he says 'swimmingly.'"

Resentful Recollections.
"Did they make you recite 'Little Drops of Water' when you were a child?" "Yes," replied Colonel Stilkwell. "And it didn't stop there. When I grew up they tried to insist on my adopting them as a beverage."

Was "Boiling Within."
"Sir," said old Sir William Earle to a man who had offended him, "you don't know the strength of the expressions I am not using."—"In Lighter Vein," by John de Morgan.

Firs and Pines of One Family.
Fir trees differ from pines only in the fact that the leaves grow singly and the scales of the cones are smooth, round and thin.

Bach's Place in Music.
Bach was known as the master of the organ. He is responsible for the present system of piano playing, the use of all the fingers.

Frequent Failing.
Some men talk so loud they attract attention and call it personal magnetism.—Atchison Globe.

Fails There.
Many a man can be everything but one.—Detroit Free Press.

THEODORE ROOSEVELT PLEASING TO TRUSTS.

A letter from R. D. Compton, of Walla Walla, Washington, to his uncle, A. H. Compton, of Wellington, follows:
 "Roosevelt, a man unmoved by an honest principle, unhampered by conscience, unbound by any sense of justice, unrestricted by any regard for the truth, with no party loyalty, and innocent of patriotism, comes, forced to the front by the demands of the people, which he has contrived, by his own machinations, to foster to the fever heat. Now, with sublime egotism, he attempts to pose before the hood-winked and gold-bricked American people as the man who is able to keep the United American Ship of State off of the rocks. The rocks that he seems to fear most, are Reform and Progress. These, however, are his slogans on the public stump, while he slyly winks his eye at the trusts, and they secure in their belief that he will keep his pledged word to them, swing into the scale the heavy balance of their unlimited money and go into the fight with every assurance of winning the fight for Roosevelt, the Trusts, and Oppression.
 Roosevelt having organized the Annan's club now announces himself

lar election. Taft as the of the regular party means a the republican party and a democratic president.
 In case of a democratic victory we of the common people had better prepare for a protracted siege, for the money trusts will see to it that no prosperity comes to the nation during the administration of a democrat. Yet if the unlimited power is not now broken we may as well resign our once prosperous and happy republic, first to an oligarchy, then as some stronger freebooter comes on to an unlimited monarchy, and no candidate is so pleasing to the Trusts for the position of Emperor, as Theodore Roosevelt.
 Experience is a dear teacher but fools will learn in no other school, and if the American people can not profit by their experience of two terms of Rooseveltian administration they will not be satisfied until they have had his perfidy written on the wall by some action of his, such perhaps as the reluctant refusing of the crown; in such a case may there arise another Brutus.
 My opinion of the political situation is that it is not a contest between the republican and democratic parties, not a contest between any two sections of the country, but a contest between a republic and an oligarchy.

the charter member, and in a way, too, that is merely a repetition of the old performance, whipping the devil around the stump. If Roosevelt is elected this time the American People may as well bow to the absolute rule of the Trusts and Mammon, or to prepare for a second French Revolution.

On the other hand Taft represents the Jelly-fish. He intends to do as nearly right as he is capable of doing but is unable to stand against the demands of his party bosses. Poor Taft, after the next election may he rest in peace. If Taft will brace up and hold the republican convention as he could he would defeat T. R., although he would stand absolutely no show of re-election in the popu-

SENATE INSISTS ON FEDERAL SUPERVISION.

Washington, April 23.—Senator Clark of Wyoming, chairman of the committee on judiciary, today formally announced the failure of the conferees to agree on the resolution proposing the constitutional amendment providing for the popular election of senators, that has been pending between the two houses since last summer. The senate thereupon, on Mr. Clark's motion, voted to insist upon its amendment by an almost strictly partisan vote of 42 to 36. Mr. Borah of Idaho was the only republican who voted against the motion. Mr. Clarke of Arkansas was the only democrat who voted for it.

Issue Between Houses.
 The issue between the house and senate is the question of federal supervision of the ballot boxes. The house in its resolution expressly struck out in regard to senatorial elections, the power congress now has to supervise the election of members of the house. The last time that power was sought to be used was when the force bill failed of passage after an extraordinary filibuster, and the southern democrats have no intention of permitting that struggle to be repeated if they can help it.
 On the senate side, however, there is a feeling that the house will recede rather than kill the whole plan for direct elections. The fact that congress has never interfered, except to fix dates for elections, is used as argument for the harmlessness of the senate amendment with the fact that in the senate the democratic primaries already practically amount to a direct election.

Clark Makes Statement.
 In his statement announcing the disagreement, Senator Clark of Wyoming, the chairman of the senate conferees, said that the conferees have had sixteen meetings with a majority of the conference present each time, but failed to come to an agreement. He said that there is a growing belief among the people that the selection of senators should be by direct vote and not by legislatures, because of scandals that have arisen at various times out of the election by legislatures.

He then pointed out the difference which exists between the two houses over the subject, and contended that if the house view prevailed, it would be impossible to apply the provisions of the recently enacted campaign publicity bill to the election of senators.

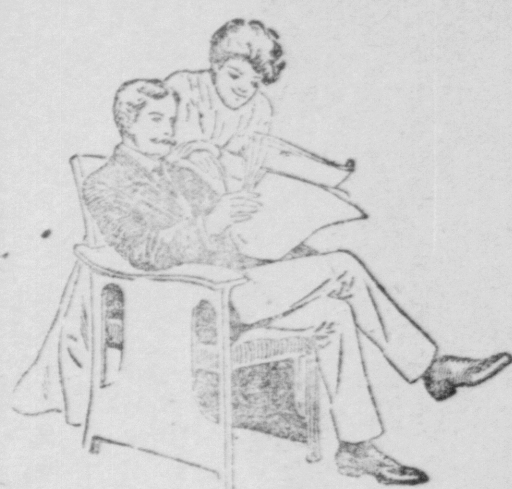

TAFT WINS OUT IN NEW HAMPSHIRE.

Concordia, N. H., April 23.—Victory in the republican presidential primaries in New Hampshire practically was conceded to Taft tonight by Roosevelt leaders, including Governor Bass. Returns received at the Roosevelt headquarters from 202 of the 290 cities and towns gave Taft 380 delegates and Roosevelt 234 out of a total of 811 in the state convention.

The Roosevelt leaders conceded the first district to Taft, but claimed incomplete returns showed a Taft lead there.

Taft Man's Statement.
 Gen. H. M. Baker, chairman of the Taft League, said tonight:
 "The returns received up to 11 o'clock show that President Taft has carried the state and both congressional districts by substantial majorities. The victory is complete.

LAND CASE DECISION WORTH MILLIONS

That the decision of the supreme court if the United States relative to the sale of Indian lands, rendered Monday, will bring millions of dollars of foreign capital to the state is the opinion of W. A. Ledbetter, one of the attorneys in the case, who said:

"The recent decision of the United States supreme court holding that there is no restriction on the right of sale by Indian heirs, regardless of quantity of blood, of land allotted under what is known as section 22 of the supplemental Choctaw and and Chickasaw treaty, commonly called 'dead Indian claims,' is of vast importance to the state.

"When the allotment of lands in these nations began in 1903, thousands of deeds were taken to inherited lands on advice of local attorneys and under decisions of the local United States courts. A similar view was held by the supreme court of the state of Oklahoma. Later the federal court of the eastern district of Oklahoma, and the circuit court of the United States at St. Louis, held all these titles void, and that the allotments were held under restrictions. The supreme court of the United States reversed these federal courts and held that the Oklahoma supreme court correctly decided the legal question involved.

"On account of this conflict in opinion, millions of dollars have been kept out of the state, but now the great obstacle which has deterred foreign investors heretofore, has been removed by the final decision of the supreme court of the United States. Thousands of titles involving millions of dollars have thus been cleared up.

"It is safe to predict that as soon as this fact is known there will be a great influx of foreign capital for investment in southern Oklahoma lands, where the very best land can be procured for less than one-third of what it costs elsewhere."

YOUNG DEMOCRATS HOLD FINE MEETING

Tuesday evening the Young Democrats pulled off the best meeting since the organization of the club, in spite of several other meetings of various kinds, a fair sized crowd was present and a lively program rendered. The normal quartet gave three numbers, one of which, "Ted and Bill," was written by Prof. Pentem and made a great hit.

Robert Wimble made a short talk on Roosevelt, who, he declared, was the greatest political acrobat known in history, being able to shift with the greatest ease from one position to another and still hold his own with many people.

Next came a most excellent debate on the government ownership of railroad and telegraph lines. The affirmative side was championed by Prof. C. J. Moore of Roff and Dr. R. G. Sears of Ada. The negative was represented by Joe Bridges of Roff and E. S. Ratliff of Ada. Mr. Bridges was the youngest of the bunch, but he showed himself equal to the occasion, and able to hold his own. The question was submitted to the audience for decision and the negative won by a vote of eight to six.

It was decided to hold another meeting at Fitzhugh Saturday night, May 4, at which time another debate will be held and a club organized.

DEAD CLAIM LAND CASES

EXCERPTS FROM OPINION PREPARED FOR THE NEWS BY JUDGE T. D. McKEOWN.

Supreme Court of the United States.

J. S. Mullen and W. B. Jansen vs. The United States. No. 404. Justice Hughes delivered the opinion.

"It will be observed that the homestead lands are made inalienable 'during the lifetime of the allottee, not exceeding twenty-one years from the date of certificate of allotment.' The period of restriction is thus definitely limited, and the clear implication is that when the prescribed period expired the lands were to become alienable; that is, by the heirs of the allottee upon his death, or by the allottee himself at the end of twenty-one years. Thus, with respect to homestead lands, the supplemental agreement imposed no restriction upon alienation by the heirs of a deceased allottee. And the reason may be found in the fact that each member of the tribes—each minor child as well as each adult, duly enrolled as required—was to have his or her allotment; so that each member was already provided with a homestead as a part of the allotment, independently of the lands which might be acquired by descent. On the other hand, the proviso of paragraph 16—which relates to the additional portion of the allotment, or the so-called 'surplus' lands—contains a restriction upon alienation not only by the allottee, but by his heirs. Whatever may have been the purpose, a distinction was thus made with regard to the disposition by heirs of the homestead and surplus lands respectively.

The question now presented—whether the selection of any portion of the allotted lands as homestead, and there is no ground for supposing that it was the intention of congress that a provision for such selection should be read into the paragraph so as to assimilate it to paragraph 12, relating to allotments to living members. While the lands were to be allotted in the name of the deceased allottee, they passed at once to his heirs, and as each heir, if a member of the tribe, was already supplied with his homestead of 160 acres, there was no occasion for a further selection for that purpose from the inherited lands. No distinction is made between the heirs, they might or might not be members of the tribe, and where there were a number of heirs each would take his undivided share. It is quite evident that there is no basis for implying the requirement that in such case there should be a selection of a portion of the allotment as a homestead, and all the lands allotted under paragraph 23, are plainly upon the same footing. While it appears from the record that in the present case, separate certificates of allotment were issued for homestead and surplus lands, this was without the sanction of the statute.

This, however, is a merely formal distinction and implies no difference in substance. In both cases the lands were to go immediately to the heirs and the mere circumstance that under the language of the statute the allotment was to be made in the name of the deceased ancestor instead of the names of the heirs furnishes no reason for implying a requirement that there should be a designation of a portion of the lands as homestead.

We have, then, a case where all the allotted lands going to the heirs are of the same character and there is no restriction upon the right of alienation expressed in the statute, had the lands been allotted in the lifetime of the ancestor, one-half of them, constituting homestead, would have been free from restriction upon his death. The only difficulty springs from the language of paragraph 16, limiting the right of heirs to sell 'surplus' lands. But, on examining the context, it appears that this provision is a part of the scheme for allotments to living members, where there is a segregation of homestead and surplus lands respectively.

Whatever the policy of such a distinction which gives a greater freedom for the disposition by heirs of homestead lands than of the additional lands, there is no warrant for importing it into paragraph 22 where there is no such segregation. It would be manifestly inappropriate to imply the restriction in such cases as to make it applicable to all the lands taken by the heirs, and there is no occasion, or authority, for creating a division of the lands so as to impose a restriction upon a part of them.

There being no restriction upon the right of alienation, the heirs in the cases involved in this appeal were entitled to make the conveyances. The bill alleged that the tracts embraced in these conveyances were 'allotted lands,' and certificates of allotment had been issued.

These Indian heirs were vested with an interest in the property which in the absence of any provision to the contrary was the subject of sale. The fact that they were 'full blood' Indians makes no difference in this case for, at the time of the conveyances in question, heirs of the full blood taking under the provisions of paragraph 22 of the supplemental agreement had the same right of alienation as other heirs.

It does not appear from the allegations of the bill whether patents for the lands had been issued to the Indian grantors before the conveyances were made. But as the lands had been duly allotted, the right to patent was established; and there was no restriction in cases under paragraph 22 upon alienation of the lands prior to the date of patent. There was undoubtedly a complete equitable interest which, in the absence of restriction, the owner could convey.

Twelve Clubs Start Pennant Race.

South Bend, Ind., April 24.—With the first twelve-club circuit that has appeared on the baseball map since the National League cut down to eight clubs in 1899, the enlarged Central League started upon its 1912 pennant race today with games in six cities. The organization this year comprises Dayton, South Bend, Grand Rapids, Ft. Wayne, Terre Haute, Wheeling and Zanesville of last year's circuit, together with Springfield, formerly of the Ohio State

State League, and Youngstown, Erie, Canton and Akron, which were in the O. and P. league last season. A remarkable feature of the circuit is the fact that it contains three clubs that pulled down championship pennants last season. They are Dayton, champions of the Central; Springfield, which won the championship in the Ohio State League, and Akron, the winner of the O. and P. pennant. The schedule adopted by the Central this year calls for a season of 132 games, ending Labor Day.
